Tax & Revenue

Starting out as playing a support role to other practice areas within the firm, our tax and revenue practice has grown to meet the demand for specialist and comprehensive advisory and contentious tax work. The Firm's Tax and Revenue practice is recognised as a leading practice by a number of international publications and we frequently receive referrals from accounting firms on complex and contentious tax matters.

Advisory

We provide our broad spectrum of clients which includes corporations, individuals and major accounting practices with useful tax advice and innovative solutions on all areas of revenue law.

By working closely with other departments within the firm, in particular, the Corporate & Commercial Department, we are able to provide clients with seamless and complete legal solutions from the inception of a deal or transaction, obviating the need for multiple legal advisors.

Contentious Tax Work

As a significant part of our tax & revenue practice, we have appeared and continue to appear before the Special Commissioners of Income Tax and the Appellate Courts on major points of tax law.

We also provide legal support to major accounting firms on issues arising from tax audits and investigations.
